Class of 1971 Yearbook Dedication

We dedicate this yearbook to two physician-teachers who have demonstrated during our acquaintance with them, exceptionally high character qualities:

Raymond C. Read, M.D.
Chief of Surgery, LRVAH

Louis Sanders, M.D.
Chief of Endocrinology, LRVAH

A Physician's Prayer

"Oh God, Thou has appointed me to watch over the life and death of Thy creatures;
here I am ready for my vocation.

"And now I turn unto my calling:

O stand by me my God in this truly important task;

Grant me success! For—

Without Thy loving counsel and support,

Man can avail but naught

Inspire me with true love for this my art

And for Thy creatures,

O, grant—

That neither greed for gain, nor thirst
for fame, nor vain ambition,

May interfere with my activity.

For these I know are enemies of Truth
and Love for men,

And might beguile me in profession
From furthering the welfare of Thy creatures.

O strengthen me.

Grant energy unto both body and the soul

That I might e'er unhindered ready be

To mitigate the woes,

Sustain and help

The rich and poor, the good and bad, enemy and friend.

O let me e'er behold in the afflicted
and suffering,

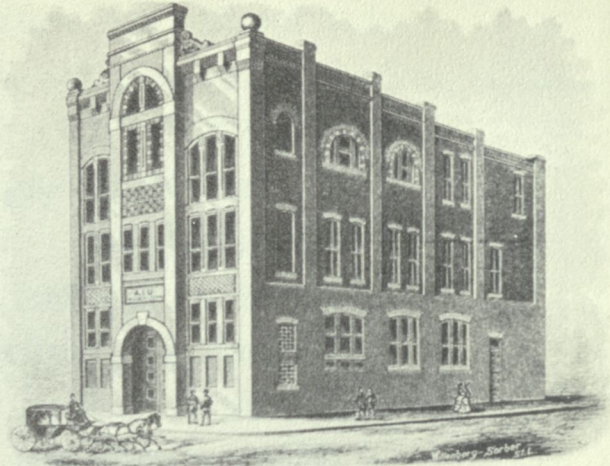

Only the human being."

COLLEGE BUILDING.

SECOND STREET, BETWEEN MAIN AND LOUISIANA STREETS.

Second Medical School Building 123 Sherman

Logan H. Roots Memorial City Hospital operated in conjunction with the second Medical School Building.

The First State Capitol as a Medical School Building between the first and second school building.

The beginnings of Medicine in Arkansas are lost in the mists of the past. The early records reveal physicians and surgeons coming here from medical schools in the East and abroad. The first faculty roster of the University at Fayetteville lists a Richard Thurston, M.D., of Van Buren, who was paid $480 for teaching. It was to be a long time before other physicians were paid for their contributions to the University. By 1870, however, there was a sufficient number of physicians with active interest, who constituted themselves as the Arkansas Medical Society. This Society engaged in both scientific and political activity for the improvement and regulation of health, medical care, and medical practice. This body became the true father of the Medical Center, and there were frequent exchanges between the Board of Trustees of the University and the Officers of the Medical Society concerning the establishment of a Medical Department.

The fact that the University was permanently located in Fayetteville, away from the cultured business, legislative, and more important medical center of the state posed problems to both parties. The lack of clinical material for medical instruction in Fayetteville and the indifference of the Board of the University led the Medical Society to explore the establishment of a Medical Department of St. Johns College here in Little Rock. Nothing came of this, however.

Eventually, in 1879, with the support of and for the Medical Society, certain physicians of Little Rock under the leadership of Dr. Hooper formed a stock company and inaugurated a medical school for the state. The University accepted this institution as the Medical Department of the University, granting degrees to the graduates, but stipulated that it would assume no financial responsibility for its support. It was 65 years before this fiscal irresponsibility was reversed. Support was solely by the physicians of Little Rock, by the city, which made available the facilities of the city hospitals, by student fees, and by the State Medical Society. Recognition by the Association of American Medical Colleges was attained in 1890, in which year the curriculum was extended to four years of six months each, and there were 83 students with 17 graduating.

In 1906 a second medical school, the College of Physicians and Surgeons, was established. This institution likewise was self-supporting and while it struggled little was added to medicine in Arkansas.

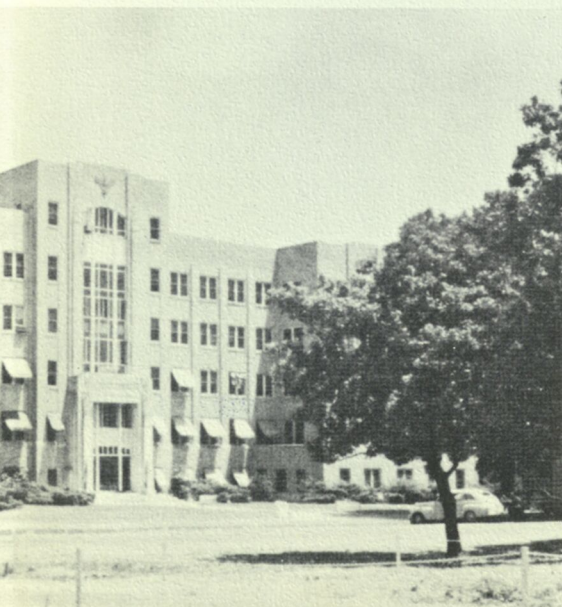

At the 1909 meeting of the Arkansas State Medical Society, a committee was appointed with Doctor Young of Springdale its Chairman, with three objectives. First, to persuade the two faculties of medicine to merge, to combine their acquired properties and equipment and to deed them to the State. Second, to persuade the General Assembly to accept these properties, making the combined school a part of the University and providing for its support. Third, to induce the State to build and maintain a Charity Hospital in connection with and under the control of the University School of Medicine.

The first two of these objectives was accomplished by 1911, but it required nearly 50 years for the third, the Hospital. In accepting this gift, the Legislature—not the University—pledged the "faith and credit of the State to forever maintain and operate a first class medical school as a part of the University, with the course of study, methods of instruction and equipment of standards equivalent to that required of Medical Colleges by the Association of American Colleges." However, the Legislature adjourned without appropriating any funds for such a purpose. As the legislature prepared to move to the New Capitol in 1913, it passed a resolution making available the 75 year old State Capitol Building for use of the Medical School, and in the same year Dean Smith, a graduate of the University, presented a budget of $50,000. According to the Gazette: "A huge laugh went up from the solons when that request was presented, who regarded the maintenance of a medical school as the wildest extravagance." However, the Legislature appropriated $36,000.

There were further appropriations by the Legislature to the Medical Department directly. It was not until 1945 that the appropriation for the University included money for the school of Medicine. Because of the financial and other stringencies, the school lost its accreditation and reverted to a two year preclinical school in 1918. The State Medical Society Committee was still working on its third goal, a hospital. These developments, plus the persuasive powers of Dean Smith, induced the Legislature in 1920 to appropriate $500,000 for the hospital. Unfortunately, the State Penitentiary was in debt, and the funds subsequently were diverted to the Penitentiary.

The City of Little Rock again came to the rescue with the completion of the new City Hospital at McArthur Park, making these facilities available to the Medical School, and clinical instruction was resumed. In 1935 the modern Medical School building was constructed with W.P.A. funds, adjacent to the hospital, and in 1939 the State leased the City Hospital to complete the first combined unit for the Medical Center as such until 1956.

THE T.H. BARTON INSTITUTE

This nine story medical research building was completed in 1960. The impetus for its construction was provided by Col. and Mrs. T. H. Barton in the form of a $600,000 donation. It is in this building where crucial research is conducted providing a basis for better patient care.

UNIVERSITY OF ARKANSAS MEDICAL CENTER

It is difficult to pinpoint any single development which gave rise to the University of Arkansas Medical Center; rather a series of events and personalities brought it into being.

Briefly stated, the record shows this:

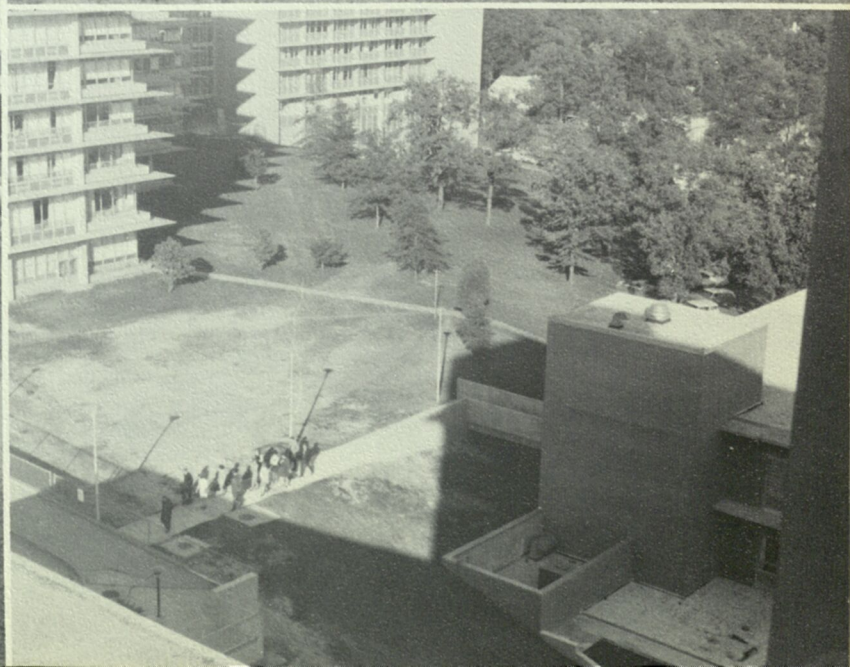

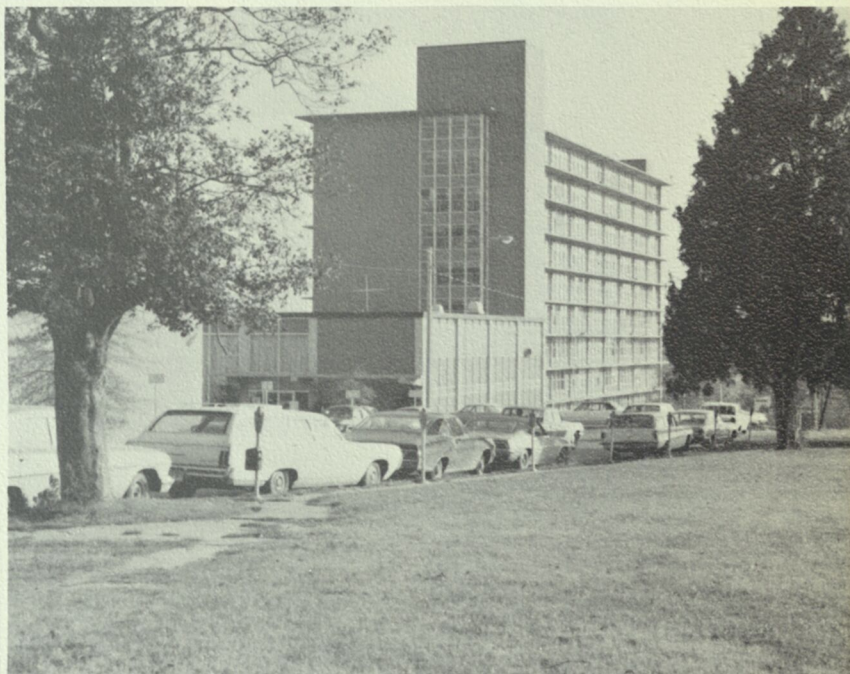

Construction on the two "basic" components, the 450 bed capacity hospital and the education wing, was started in 1951 and completed in 1957.

After equipping and staffing of the new facility — which alone consumed about one year — the hospital was opened in June, 1956; the education building in March, 1957.

Official Dedication was observed April 25, 1957.

Overall cost — including facilities which have been added since 1957 — totals approximately $20,000,000.

In 1970, through cooperation of staff members, students, and health professionals, the Medical Center produced 87 physicians, 40 pharmacists, 33 nurses, 14 medical technologists, 15 X-Ray technologists, 24 Dental Hygienists, and 6 Cyto-technologists. Through the cooperation of our legislature and newly elected governor, new and better things are expected at the Medical Center.

VETERAN'S ADMINISTRATION HOSPITAL

A much appreciated educational opportunity for the juniors and seniors on medical and surgical clerkships is the Little Rock Veterans Administration Hospital with 471 beds and over 10,000 admissions and 75,000 outpatient visits. The VAH is very active in the intern-resident training program. The housestaff is well trained in the treatment of "chronic lungers" and "Laenec's cirrhosis" when he finishes his tour of duty at this hospital.

Arkansas Children's Hospital is a 94-bed fully accredited non-profit institution providing comprehensive medical and surgical care for children throughout the State of Arkansas. Arkansas Children's Hospital has been affiliated with the orthopedic residency program of the University of Arkansas Medical Center since 1962. The orthopedic residents serve six months as junior residents and six months as senior residents. Senior pediatric residents have had a three month rotation at ACH since 1965. The staff of the hospital consists of private practitioners of pediatrics, orthopedics, surgery, and dentistry in Little Rock, plus consultants from the Medical Center.

ARKANSAS CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL

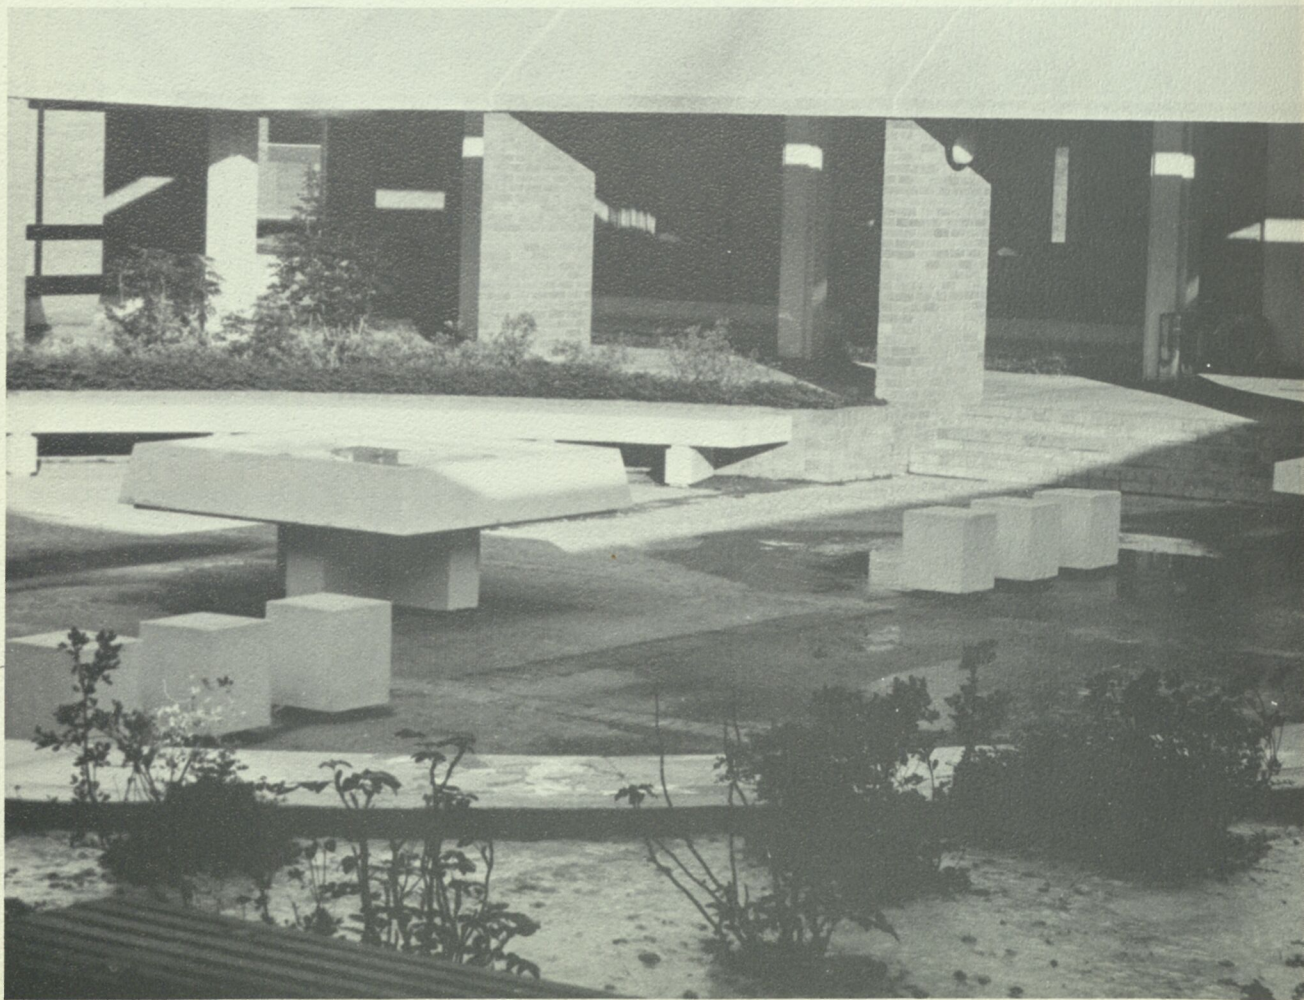

ARKANSAS STATE HOSPITAL

Arkansas is recognized as a leader in the field of mental health. This is due primarily to the active building and training programs of its State Hospital. Through appropriate legislation and federal grants, the hospital system has accelerated its training programs for psychiatrists, nurses, and psychiatric technicians.

The maximum load of the Little Rock State Hospital is 800 patients with an active follow-up program of 200 outpatients throughout the state. The Community Mental Health Program was begun in July, 1967 and now has extended to include 40 Arkansas counties. There are now four comprehensive mental health centers and seven community units.

The background of the entire page is a complex, abstract geometric pattern. It consists of numerous thin, white lines of varying lengths and orientations that intersect to form a dense, web-like structure. The lines are set against a solid black background. In the center of this pattern, there is a large, irregular, dark shape that resembles a stylized, elongated oval or a lens. The word "Administration" is printed in white, serif font within this central dark area.

BEST WISHES TO THE STUDENTS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF ARKANSAS
MEDICAL CENTER

I am honored and happy to participate in this 1971 CADUCEUS for this involvement will be a reminder to you in later years of our joint efforts to serve the people of Arkansas.

I am sure your dedication to your education will be followed by an equally sincere dedication to the profession which you have chosen.

Many of the rural and poor areas of our state are desperate for medical services. Because of this I am hopeful each of you will think seriously about staying in Arkansas to practice in the field of your choice so that the benefits derived from your knowledge and skill will be a blessing which all of us can share.

Sincerely yours,

Dale Bumpers

THE 1971 CADUCEUS
P. O. S. AWARD

Oath of Hippocrates

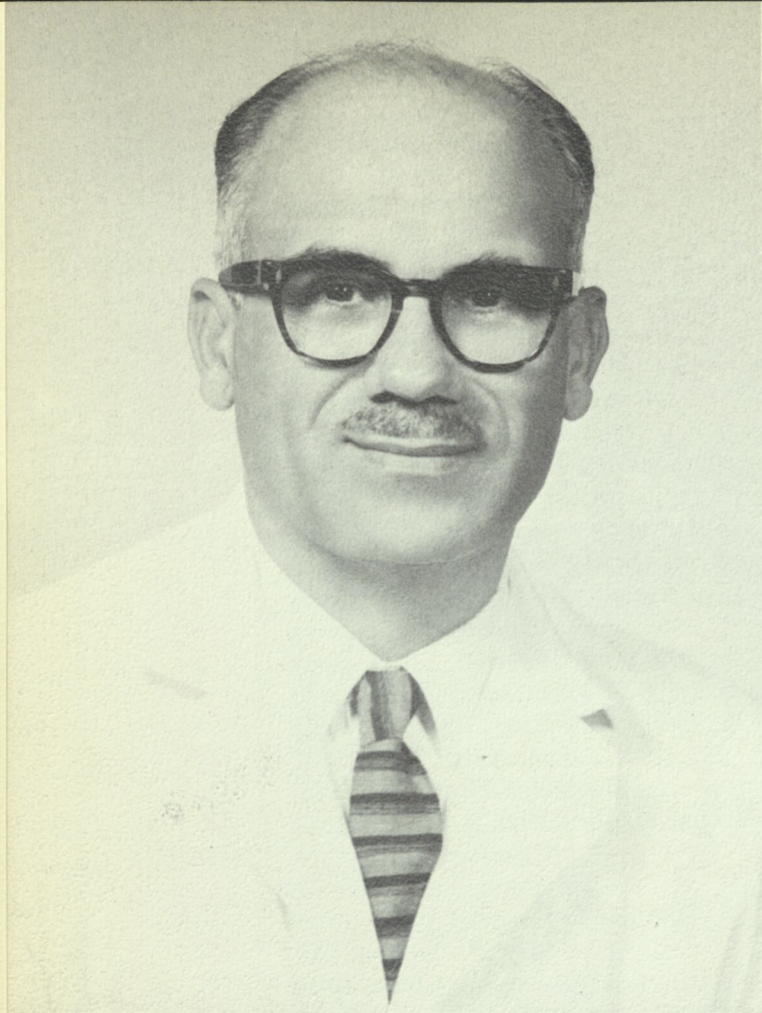

"I swear by Apollo the physician, by Aesculapius, Hygeia, and Panacea, and I take witness to all the gods, all the goddesses, to keep according to my ability and my judgment the following Oath.

"To consider dear to me as my parents him who taught me this art; to live in common with him and if necessary to share my goods with him; to look upon his children as my own brothers, to teach them this art if they so desire without fee or written promise; to impart to my sons and the sons of the master who taught me and the disciples who have enrolled themselves and have agreed to the rules of the profession, but to these alone, the precepts and the instruction. I will prescribe regimen for the good of my patients according to my ability and my judgment and never do harm to anyone. To please no one will I prescribe a deadly drug, nor give advice which may cause his death. Nor will I give a woman a pessary to procure abortion. But I will preserve the purity of my life and my art. I will not cut for stone, even for patients in whom the disease is manifest; I will leave this operation to be performed by specialists in this art. In every house where I come I will enter only for the good of my patients, keeping myself far from all intentional ill-doing and all seduction, and especially from the pleasures of love with women or with men, be they free or slaves. All that may come to my knowledge in the exercise of my profession or in daily commerce with men, which ought not be spread abroad, I will keep secret and never reveal. If I keep this oath faithfully, may I enjoy my life and practice my art, respected by all men and in all times; but if I swerve from it or violate it, may the reverse be my lot."

IN MEMORIAM

*"My name and my place
and my tomb, all forgotten,
The brief race of time
well and patiently run,
So let me pass away,
peacefully, silently,
Only remembered by what I have done."*

MD'S of 1971

The physician has long stood as a source of mystery and wonder to the young. With time and education, much of the mystery will wane; yet, the wonder of medicine will grow and hence is born a new physician.

Sophomore Syndrome

MD'S of 1974

This is a detailed, monochromatic illustration of a surgical procedure, likely a craniotomy. The scene is filled with various surgical instruments and anatomical structures. In the upper left, there's a circular object, possibly a speculum or a part of a retractor. Below it, a long, thin instrument, possibly a drill or a probe, is visible. In the center, a small, ribbed container holds a tool. To the right, a large, complex structure, possibly a part of a retractor or a specialized instrument, is shown. The background is filled with various anatomical details, including what appears to be a skull and internal structures. The overall style is that of a technical or medical illustration, with fine lines and shading used to depict the various components and the surgical environment.

Question is — which model to study?

Judy K. the Second.

I'll teach those Jr.'s to make fun of my BAMBI T-shirt.

Norlestrin induced hirsutism in Peol lab.

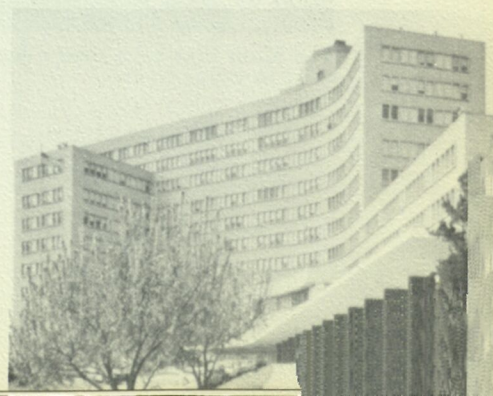

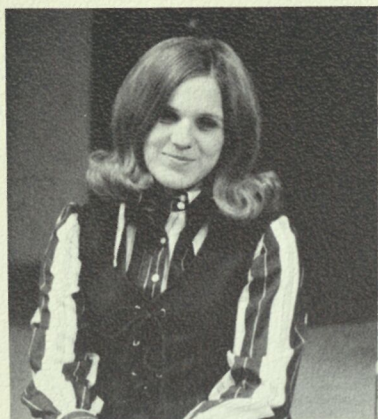

Jordin's typical approach to the freshman.

Who says you can't take it with you!

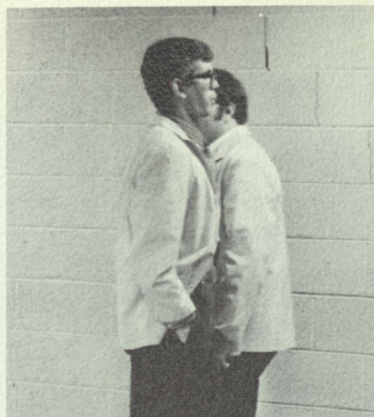

Hero Hotel

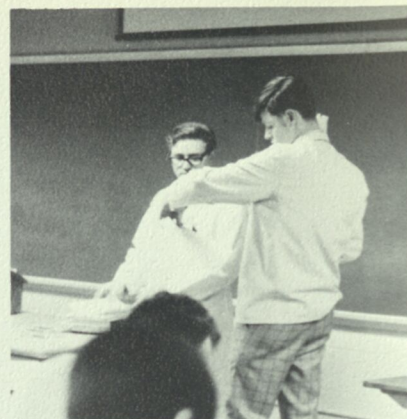

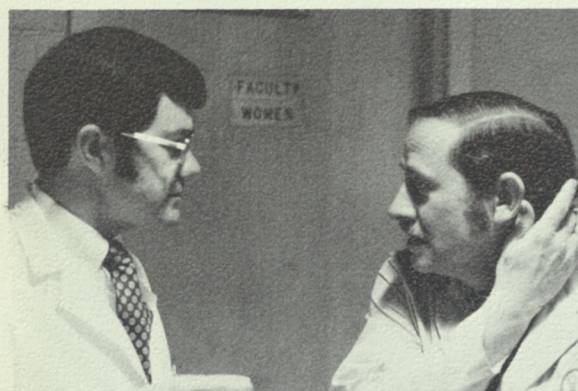

Julie . . . the secretary who got left out.

Pass the word . . . Nelda is copying in class.

Now Gary . . . just think of me as the captain of a ship . . . not an instructor.

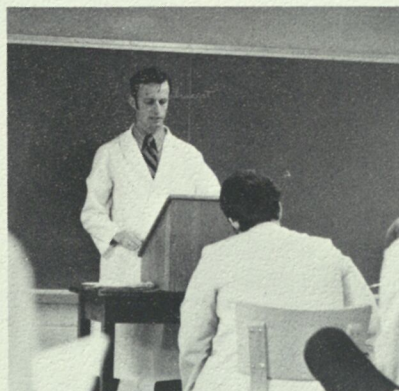

If I catch you coming out of there one more time I'll backhand you !!

We lose more secretaries over this machine filling.

Yes Mam that says insert one daily in your privates.

No, I won't hold you responsible for specific structures . . . but be able to recognize, draw, synethize or dream up anything I may think of for the test.

That's all for this year.

An abstract geometric design on the left side of the page, consisting of several overlapping rectangles of various sizes and orientations. The rectangles are drawn with thin black outlines, creating a complex, layered effect. Some rectangles are vertical, while others are horizontal, and they overlap in a way that suggests depth and movement. The overall composition is minimalist and modern.

SCHOOL

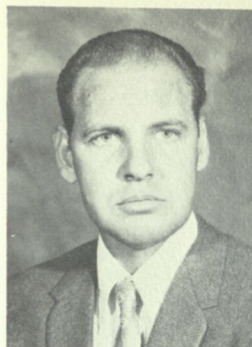

The responsibility of the Graduate School is to train professional scientists so that medical knowledge can continue its development in the future. This is an integral part of the medical center's service to mankind. The graduate students presented on these pages work in the departments of Anatomy, Biochemistry, Biometry, Microbiology, Physiology, Pharmacy, Pharmacology, and Radiology. They teach, study, and do research in an effort to further expand the scientific understanding of man and his health.

Dr. Carl E. Duffy and his secretary Mrs. Weise help graduate students deal with the mountains of red tape that go with getting an advanced degree.

The background is a solid black field. Overlaid on this are numerous thin, white, straight lines of varying lengths and orientations. These lines intersect to form a complex, web-like pattern. A prominent feature is a large, roughly circular area in the center where the lines are more densely packed and form a sort of frame around the text. The overall effect is one of dynamic, geometric abstraction.

The background of the entire image is a solid black field. Overlaid on this field is a complex, dense network of thin, white, straight lines. These lines intersect at various angles and points, creating a web-like or crystalline structure. The lines vary in length and orientation, with some appearing more horizontal or vertical while others are diagonal. The overall effect is one of dynamic, chaotic geometry.

SAINT FRANCIS HOSPITAL, TULSA, OKLAHOMA

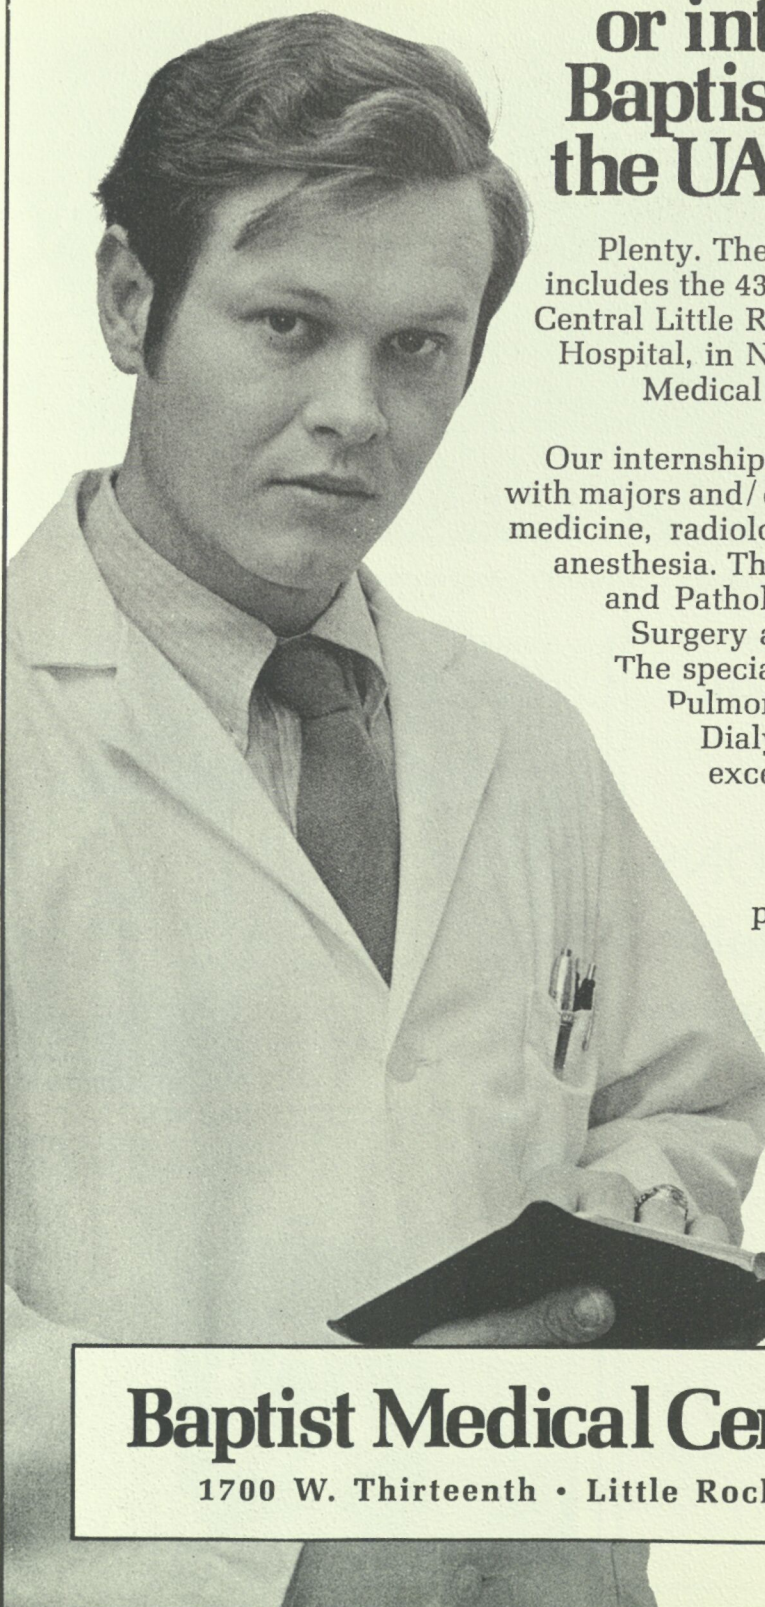

A varied and interesting program awaits the intern at Saint Francis Hospital where a unique preceptor type rotating internship is offered for twelve interns. Highly individualized inpatient teaching is given first priority, with the intern assuming great responsibility in patient care. In some instances the intern follows his own cases in the private offices of his preceptor. Saint Francis Hospital is Oklahoma's largest, most modern hospital. Recent expansion has increased the bed capacity to 655 beds and 60 bassinets.

Besides a generous monthly stipend, interns receive uniforms, laundry, meals while on duty, full hospitalization and two weeks vacation.

What does a residency or internship in the Baptist System offer the UAMC graduate?

Plenty. The Baptist Medical Center System includes the 437-bed Baptist Medical Center in Central Little Rock, and the 148 bed Memorial Hospital, in North Little Rock. A new 500-bed Medical Complex is under construction in Western Little Rock.

Our internships are rotating types 0,1,3,5,6,7,8 with majors and/or electives available in surgery, medicine, radiology, pathology, psychiatry and anesthesia. There are residencies in Radiology and Pathology. Residents from UAMC in Surgery and Ophthalmology rotate here. The special care units for Coronary Care, Pulmonary Care, Intensive Care, Renal Dialysis and Emergency Care offer excellent educational opportunities.

What's more, you will be working with doctors skilled in their special areas of medical practice who know how to teach and who teach by precept the art of the physician-patient relationship. That's an important point to consider.

We'd like to tell you more about our programs. Contact Dr. Jasper L. McPhail, Director of Medical Education, for all the facts.

St. John's Expands Education

An expansion of the medical education program of St. John's Hospital was announced today with the appointment of two physicians specializing in lung disease and stomach-intestinal disorders to the medical staff.

Dr. James D. Mayfield, former instructor of internal medicine at the University of Texas Southwestern medical school, Dallas, has been appointed director of medical education and of pulmonary services at St. John's.

In addition, Dr. David W. Jenkins has been named director of medical education of the internal medicine department and director of gastroenterology. Dr. Jenkins was formerly assistant, department of medicine, division of gastroenterology at the University of Colorado school of medicine.

MERLIN L. Blanchard, associate administrator of the hospital, said the new medical education setup will substantially strengthen the second and third year teaching program for residencies in internal medicine in Tulsa.

The local teaching hospitals are undertaking joint programs in several specialties and recently completed their first year for surgery residents under the Tulsa Area Surgical Education Trust.

Dr. Mayfield has a bachelor's degree in pharmacy from the University of Texas at Austin and received his M.D. from Baylor University college of medicine in Houston.

Dr. Jenkins received his bachelor's degree from Colorado College and his MD at Case-Western Reserve University.

Dr. R. Wayne Neal who has been dividing his time to serve as acting director of medical education will now devote full time to duties as director of cardio-vascular services at St.

NY Radiation Specialist Joins St. John's Hospital

Radiation therapy specialist Dr. Zia Vargha has joined the staff at St. John's Hospital. Dr. L. M. Pascucci, hospital chairman and director of the department of radiology, announced Thursday.

Dr. Vargha, a native of Iran, will be in charge of the radiation therapy section at St. John's, which also serves as a referral center for area hospitals.

Dr. Vargha came here from the Mount Sinai School of Medicine of the City University of New York where he served as attending radiotherapist.

He interned at Elmhurst Hospital in New York after coming to the United States in 1956. He received his M.D. from Tehran Medical School.

Following his internship, Dr. Vargha completed his residency at Ontario Cancer Institute in Toronto. He was awarded a fellowship to Mount Sinai Hospital where he subsequently was named attending radiotherapist at Mount Sinai and its affiliate, Elmhurst Hospital.

His wife, Camille, and children, Michael and Lynda, will move here in July.

Medical Trust Completes Its First Year in Tulsa

The first five student doctors to be trained under the Tulsa Area Surgical Education Trust have completed their first and second-year residencies in surgery.

Completing second-year residency training are Drs. John E. Disiere and John S. Watson. Completing their first-year training are Drs. Wallace E. Duff, Walter D. Harris, and Paul F. Park.

Additionally, Dr. Robert A. Taylor is completing his three-year residency in obstetrics and gynecology. Taylor studied the first two years at St. John's with his last year taken under the joint auspices of St. John's and Hillcrest. Dr. James C. Toney completed his second year, and Dr. Calvin M. Bracy finished his first year of obstetmajor hospitals—St. John's Hospital, Hillcrest Medical Center and St. Francis Hospital.

The program was initiated to improve patient care by offering a greater study opportunity in Tulsa to the residents (graduate doctors who have completed one-year internships). The residents study their areas of interest on a rotating basis in the hospitals to learn the best from each.

In addition to attracting qualified young doctors to Tulsa, the program allows maximum use of hospital teaching staffs and facilities.

Tulsa hospitals, working together, are pioneering this all-city approach to teaching. The program has been approved by national boards and review agencies.

St. John's Expansion Plan

By PAT ATKINSON
Of the World Staff

The Tulsa Area Health and Hospital Planning Council began a review Wednesday of St. John's Hospital's construction plan now estimated at $33.8 million.

The construction project, calling for a new 14-story tower and elimination of the existing hospital except for the newest 200-bed unit, was announced a year ago.

The program was originally estimated at $27 million, but following a year of intensive review and analysis of details in construction, the figure is now pinpointed with a $6.8 million increase.

Three avenues of financing for the program are being explored, according to Raymond

L. Rodgers, associate administrator, and a decision is expected from the hospital's board this
